

maybe we could've
talked more about
backlash against
female politicians (recent examples)

equality \neq equity?

Well on this point
!

You will get a general picture of the current state of gender equality in politics.

A more
transformational
perspective
maybe.

What mechanisms
could strain it.

Overview of methodological
"schools" e.g. debates
inside the searcherchs.

Through reading and discussion, you will get a glimpse on different methodological approaches to assess gender equality.

different research
designs & their limitations /
flaws

and also understanding methods and learning to be critical about them as well

Maybe we've could have acted
or made an OLS Regression by ourselves.

You will be able to critically evaluate instruments that aim to tackle gender equality, understanding their potentials and challenges.

pro's and con's
of gender
quotas

"equality washing"

direct democracy
pros/cons &
impact on participation in elections

(clean)
Classification
could be more helpful in order to different types of representation

The course will familiarize you with key concepts in the study of gender and political representation. You will learn what we mean by 'representation' and how different types of representation matter for our understanding of female underrepresentation in politics.

You will engage with different explanations of gender inequality in politics and understand how societal legacies, the demand-side (voters) and supply-side dynamics (political actors) contribute to it.

inequal
political system

Very well developed.

You will acquire an understanding of social norms and their transmission through socialization and culture.

A more
conceptualization of the motions